Worth of Boys' and Children's Clothing is more than we want no this time of year. In plain language, we are overstocked. You call it had management? Well, maybe it is, but this is how it happened: Competition among the clothiers has been fierce and lond. To meet the enormous pressure, and to continue leading the trade, necessitated large stocks and great variety. During the five weeks, business, owing to the mild weather, was no what it should have been, and consequently we find ourselves with more Boys' Goods than we could, in an ordinary way, sell at this time of year. To move them, we have mercilessly cut the prices, and cut them so terribly that we omselves fail to recognize them. And to keep everything lively, we jumped into the Men's Furnishing Goods, and what a havor we did make! Who got the best of it? Well, we reckon we did, for the prices were knocked sky-high, and when they fell, they fell so low that shame made them hide their faces. 5 cents buys a pair of car mulls. 7 cents buys a Jersey cap. 10 cents buys an all-linen handkerchief. 15 cents buys an all-linen handkerchief. 15 cents buys a paper certificate of the its shadow in each heart. In his swift course cent cuffs. 48 cents buys our regular 75 cent shirt. And so on through the entire stock. In Boys' Clothing we who in the great multitude are so to l'eter at the gate of heaven. will not name prices, for they would appear so ridiculously low that we fear you might think we were exagerat ing. All we will say is this: If we don't show you Boys' Clothing and Men's Furnishings for less money than you ever saw them, you can take the goods home for nothing. In this merciless sale is included
